household, and to whom the management of the funds to be set apart for the payment of the debts is entrusted, are, Colonel Hotham, Colonel Hulse, Colonel Lake, and Henry Lyte, Esq;

His debts amount to about 230,000 l. The expense of his Royal Highness has been chiefly confined to his building and his stud. The latter cost him 30,000 l. a-year; but it was an expense highly beneficial to the country, as indeed have been all the expenses of the Prince. He was the "glass of fashion;"—he not only attracted foreigners of the highest distinction to England, but he spread out manufactures over Europe. To him we are indebted, that from being the implicit imitator of France, we have, for three or four years, given the ton to that cultivated nation.

The household of the Prince is reduced from 25,000 l. a year, to 5000 l. and it will amount to this sum in consequence of his Highness having settled small pensions on a number of old domestics, who depended on him for their subsistence. His stables, instead of 30,000 l. will now cost more than 2000 l. a-year. His table, which was always managed with great economy, and which, notwithstanding the superb entertainments, never cost more than between 9 and 10,000 l. a-year, will now be confined within 2 or 3000 l. By this means he will be able to live and maintain the elegant expense of a private gentleman on 25,000 l. a-year, and appropriate 40,000 l. a-year to the payment of his debts.

The principal sums which his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales owes have accumulated from the repairs, new buildings, and decorations at Carleton house. His reasons for that expense were forcible. He designed it for his constant residence. He had no other house—and even if by the will of Providence he should be called to the sovereignty, it was the house which he designed to occupy. St James's palace is scarcely habitable, and Buckingham house belongs personally to the Queen. The sum, therefore, which he designed to expend in the embellishment of Carleton house, was for a permanent and a national purpose.

Tatterfall has received orders to go down to Newmarket, and take inventories of the horses which make up his Highness's stud, together with his carriages, &c. and to bring the whole to the hammer with all convenient speed—and when this is done, the creditors are to be assembled by advertisement, and the whole arrangement to be submitted to their consideration. The grand rooms, the furniture, &c. of Carleton-house are to be caled, and the whole locked up, except two or three small apartments for his Highness's use when he may occasionally come to town.

The Prince of Wales set out yesterday for Bright-helmston; he is to reside, as he did last season, in Mr Kemp's house.

Several of the first class of the nobility waited, we are told, upon his Highness last Sunday, to request that he would pass the remainder of the summer in visits to their respective seats. It is said, that the Prince politely declined for the present accepting any of the invitations.

Lord Loughborough entered a protest on Saturday last against the bill appointing Commissioners to review the Crown lands; the same is signed Loughborough, Carlisle, Portland, Sandwich, Chis. Bristol.

It was yesterday discovered in the House of Commons, that in the bill for granting to his Majesty a million and a half out of the sinking fund for the current expenses of the present year, the engrossing clerk had put down five thousand instead of five hundred thousand. A bill was therefore immediately brought to rectify this mistake, which, after passing through the forms of the House, was carried up to the Peers, where it likewise passed.

On Wednesday last John Drummond, Esq; was elected Member for Shaftesbury without opposition. A new writ was moved for Kirkcubright, in the room of P. Johnstone, Esq; who had accepted the three Children Hundreds.

In conformity to the Royal command, notice has been given to all the Foreign Ministers, that their domestics are to be considered in future as amenable to the laws of this country, without deriving any sanction from the circumstance of being servants to Ambassadors, Envoys, &c.

A few days since, died in France, on his way from Italy to England, the Earl of Northington, Baron Henley, &c. one of the Tellers of the Exchequer, Master of the Hanaper, and one of the Knights of the Ancient Order of the Thistle. His Lordship dying a bachelor, and being the only son of the late Earl, the titles are now extinct. His Lordship succeeded the present Marquis of Buckingham, as Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, in 1783, and was himself succeeded by the present Duke of Rutland in 1784. His father was created Lord Henley in 1760 (to try Lord Ferrars, as Lord High Steward) and Earl of Northington in 1764.

By the death of the Earl of Northington, Lord Thurlow is now a teller of his Majesty's Exchequer.

By letters from China, brought by the Osterley East Indian, Captain Rogers, we hear, that a dispute had happened in the month of January last between the Dutch settlers and the natives on the island of Sumatra; in consequence of which several were killed and wounded on both sides, and the quarrel was by no means accommodated when the advices came away.

A packet for India, with dispatches, has been ready at Blackwall for near two months, but detained till the affair in dispute between the Board of Control and the Directors is accommodated, which is not expected to be done any other way than by the Directors consenting to the proposal of the Commissioners, to commit the whole business of the arrangement of the payment of the Nabob of Arcot's debts to the Secret Committee.

Saturday the Purfers of the Osterley East-Indian, Capt. Rogers, and Butbridge, Capt. Robertson, both from China, arrived at the India-House, with advice of the said ships being safe arrived off Portsmouth.

The ships lately come home from the East-Indies are ordered to be paid off as follows: viz. The Bristol, of 50 guns, at Portsmouth; the Active, of 32, at Chatham; and the Cygent sloop, at Deptford.

A Mrs Kater has arrived from Bengal, and it may be depended on as a truth, that she wore a new mullin or chintz gown every other day on her passage home; and when she arrived in the Downs, made them all a present to her valet. This is Eastern luxury.

The following cargo of the Mary, Barnard, from Boston, is one of the richest in point of specie that has arrived since the war, viz. 46,125 dollars, 1229 joes, 865 crowns, 2087 guineas, 110 half-guineas, 85 pistoles, 264 in silver, 1 moidore, 556 ounces of gold; the whole amount to about 200,000 l. sterl.

The French have launched since the commencement of the present year, the following capital ships:

Guns.	Guns.
La Reine, 110	Les Deux Freres, 80
La Dauphine, 96	La Marceiclois, 76
La Madame, 90	La Cormorant, 74

And they have nearly ready, and may be launched before the end of the year, two more three deckers, and four others. Such exertions are they making for a most formidable navy.

EDINBURGH.

Extract of a letter from London, July 11.

"This day, his Majesty, having come to town for the purpose, went in state to the House of Lords, about half past three o'clock, attended by the Dukes of Montague and Roxburgh, and, in a short speech, prorogued the Parliament to Thursday the 14th of September. The House of Commons having been previously requested to attend. The King was dressed in purple, the Court being in mourning, and looked extremely pleasant and cheerful. A great concourse of people lined the way from the Palace to the House; and the Lords were very much crowded with Ladies of the first distinction, who made a very splendid appearance.

"The reports circulated through the several public prints, respecting the Prince of Wales, have afforded much speculation in this metropolis. His Highness's Household is now reduced to four. His furniture packed up, and an inventory taken thereof, together with an account of his horses, carriages, &c. for public sale. The repairs, too, of Carleton-House are also stopped; and yesterday in the evening, his Royal Highness set off for Brightelmston in a post-coach of his own, with four hired horses, and a couple of post-boys, sent from the inn as to any other gentleman.

"By the death of Lord Northington, a vacancy of one of the Tellers of the Exchequer has happened, and a green ribbon. The former lucrative situation is to be held by the Lord Chancellor, who has the reversion of it, though his bad state of health renders it very probable that he will not long enjoy it; and the latter will most likely be given to Lord Sydney, as an English Peer is to have the vacant ribbon."

We have authority to say, that the accounts which have appeared in the London papers respecting the Prince of Wales, are in general true; and that the conduct of his Royal Highness on this occasion has rendered him extremely popular with persons of every denomination.—Similar instances of honour and real spirit, are seldom to be met with in heirs apparent of inferior stations.

We observe, in the London papers, an advertisement for the sale, by auction, of the stud of his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, consisting of stallions, horses in training, brood mares, colts, fillies, hunters, coach horses, hacks, &c.

An antique seal was lately found in the ruins of one of the houses of Niddery's Wynd, which have been pulled down to make way for the South Bridge. The seal is about the size of a half-crown piece; it is of black tin. The workmanship, which is handsome, appears to be French; and the seal is thought to be about 300 years old. It bears the coat of arms of a family in the county of Fife. And Mr Brown architect, into whose hands it fell, has presented it to the family to which the arms belong.

On Saturday last, died at South Coats, near this city, Miss Janet Finlay, daughter of the deceased James Finlay of Wallyford, Esq;

On Sunday last, died at her house in Crichton Street, Miss Katharine Dewar.

On Tuesday, died, in a very advanced age, the Rev. Dr William Wallace, minister of the gospel at Drummelzier, in the county of Peebles.

On Friday the 7th current, the Rev. Archibald Bruce, M. A. lately minister of Finty, was admitted minister in the parish of Shotts.

Yesterday morning, Mr Robert Blair finished his pleading in the case of the City of Edinburgh against the College of Justice. He was followed by Mr John MacLaurin on the part of the College, who, this morning, finished his pleading. The Lord Advocate was afterwards heard, in part, for the City of Edinburgh, when the Lord Ordinary adjourned the debate till Tuesday morning at nine o'clock.

It is supposed no more counsel will be heard in this important cause, than the conclusion of the Lord Advocate's pleading, and a reply from the Hon. Henry Erskine, Dean of the Faculty of Advocates.

Thursday, the Royal Boroughs unanimously voted a piece of plate, value one hundred guineas, to George Dempster, Esq; of Dunnichen, for his unremitting attention to the trade and manufactures, and fisheries of this country, and for his patriotic exertions for its welfare and prosperity.

They have also voted twenty guineas to Captain Pitcairn, for his Essay upon the Fisheries.

The Royal Boroughs, we hear, are to take proper measures to have the Customhouse fees on the friths or estuary rivers, &c. abolished, or put upon the same footing with England, a measure which will, when accomplished, be of the greatest benefit to Scotland.

Plans of the extended extension of the pier and harbour of Dunbar have been laid before the Convention of the Royal Boroughs; and are referred to a committee; and it is hoped the work will be carried through on a large scale. It is the most eligible situation on this side the island, either in case of wind, or war time, for the protection of vessels.

Mrs Jordan's amazing comic abilities have justly placed her in the foremost rank of Thalia's votaries. The crowded audiences she drew to the Theatre-Royal, Drury-Lane, have amply recompensed the proprietors for the very great terms on which she was engaged; and, we make no doubt, but the judicious taste of an Edinburgh audience, will cherish that merit, so justly sanctioned by the stamp of approbation from the first metropolis in Great Britain.

Mrs Kennedy, whose musical powers have been so much admired and followed, arrived here yesterday evening. We cannot help observing, therefore, that the Theatrical amusements provided for our entertainment this summer, have greatly exceeded that of any other city in the three kingdoms. It may be also noticed, to the credit of the Manager, that in the course of a twelvemonth, the part of Lady Townley has been performed at this Theatre by the four most capital actresses now in existence, viz. Mrs Siddons, Mrs Yates, Mrs Crawford, and Mrs Pope.

The Newcastle, James Tapp master, from Leith to London, arrived in the Thames the 11th inst. after a passage of four days, all well.

The herrings are so plenty upon the east coast, that 12 boats took 50 ton and upwards on Wednesday night, between Eymouth and Berwick. The prospect is greater than has been for many years.

Wednesday, being Midsummer fair at Glasgow, there was a fine show of horses, both for the draught and saddle; they sold at very high prices.

On Monday last, a ship carpenter bathing in the harbour of Leith was unfortunately drowned.

"I am now setting off for Greenock to fetch the beautiful royal balloon, and its noble appendages.—To-morrow I shall be at Glasgow again; and there is no doubt but I shall be at Edinburgh on Monday evening. In this balloon I propose taking up one or two persons with me in the race week."

To the Author of a whimsical Anecdote lately inserted in this paper.

WHEN you mentioned that Mr Wilkinson offered Mrs Jordan (that wonderful young actress, for I can call her no other) 30 guineas a-night, you might have added, that she refused it—play'd upon shares—and got above 30 guineas a-night. You might also have added, that it is an indisputable fact, that, without friends, without recommendation, without puffs in the papers, or any one thing but the bare exhibition of her own native merit to support her, she drew more money to Drury-Lane Theatre last season than Mrs Siddons did. May not then success be uncommonly rapid be called wonderful?

Westminster, July 1

THIS day his Majesty's
ORDER OF MOLLANCE,
Adjourned to Monday, August 7, 1786,

At the Desire of intending Purchasers.
To be SOLD, by public roup or auction, within the Old Exchange Coffee-house, Edinburgh, on Monday the 7th August 1786, betwixt the hours of five and six in the afternoon.

The Lands and Estate of MOLLANCE, with the teinds, lying in the parish of Croftmichael, and Stewartry of Kirkcubright, comprehending the following lands, viz. Mains of Mollance and pendicles, Erne-Annady, and Flat Moor of Moor Park, Chaplerne, Dubbydale, Halferne and pendicles, Upper Ironambry, Upper Clarebrand, Nether Clarebrand and pendicles, Garrington, Blackerne and pendicles, Little Dryburgh, Dunjarg, Meikle Dryburgh, Hilltown and pendicles, and Champantown and pendicles, containing in whole above 2336 acres Scots statute measure: and the free rent whereof, after all legal deductions, is 1144 l. 17 s. 9 d.

This estate is situated within twelve miles of Kirkcubright, on the great military road to Ireland. The house is modern, large, and commodious, and, with a complete set of offices, is in the very best repair.—There is an excellent pigeon-cot, and fish-ponds well stocked with carp, tench, and perch, with salmon, trout, and perch fishing in the river Orr and lochs adjacent. The situation is fine, commanding very extensive prospects of the adjacent country, which is remarkably pleasant and well cultivated, and plenty of game in it. There is about 50 acres of wood in the policy, part of which is full grown, and part lately planted, and all in a most thriving condition, which, with the wood upon other parts of the estate, is estimated at above 500 l. Ster. The fertility of these lands is too well known to need description, and they are occupied by a set of wealthy, industrious, and intelligent tenants as any in that country; and the uncommon punctuality with which the rents are paid is the best proof of the lands being set at moderate rents. They are capable of great improvement, by means of shell-marl, of which there is great abundance within the lands and in the neighbourhood. Coal and lime are brought by water carriage, within four miles of the premises, where also the produce of the lands may be exported. A lime quarry is also opened in the neighbourhood. The lands are all inclosed and subdivided, and the farmsteadings are all lately built, and in the best repair.

James Carter, overseer at Mollance, will show the premises. For further particulars apply to James Stormonth, writer in Edinburgh, or to the proprietor at Blackwood, by Dumfries.

To any person wishing to form a considerable interest in that part of the country, this estate must be a desirable object, as it affords every undoubted qualification for electors of a member of Parliament.

There is a very considerable quantity of low-lying wet land, on which little or no estimate was put when the farms were laid out; but which, if drained, would become very valuable. The lands are surrounded with coal and lime; and, from trials formerly made, there is reason to conclude, that coal would be found under different parts of this estate, which at a period not perhaps very remote, may become a considerable object, the neighbouring coal being supposed to be nearly exhausted.

The lands are all inclosed and subdivided; and having been for many years in the proprietor's natural possession, and of late chiefly for grass or pasture, they are at present in excellent heart. The soil is uncommonly fine, the situation pleasant, and the communication with the above market towns easy.—Abundance of coal and lime are at hand. A more delightful inland spot of similar extent is hardly any where to be met with.

It is agreeably situated within four miles of Ayr, and commands a beautiful prospect of that town and bay, with the country adjacent. The lands are all inclosed and subdivided, and the inclosures surrounded with belts of planting; which, with other small plantations, are thriving, and add to the value as well as beauty of the place. They were, till within these two years, in the proprietor's natural possession; and have been since set mostly for grass and pasture. A purchaser may have immediate access to the possession of both of this and the preceding Lot.

LOT IV. The Lands of ADAMHILL, and COAL thereof, lying in the parish of Craigie, and shire of Ayr, holding of a subject superior.

These lands lie contiguous in the parishes of Riccarton and Galston, and county of Ayr.—They consist of about 3100 acres Scots measure, of very good arable and meadow ground; in the close neighbourhood of the thriving town of Kilmarnock, and have three great roads passing through them.—The present free rent, after deduction of the land-tax, and every other annual burden, is 1861 l. Sterling, exclusive of the coal, which, at an average of some years past, although wrought under great disadvantages, owing to the competition of some neighbouring collieries, has yielded from 70 l. to 80 l.—There is coal, lime, and free-stone in several parts of the estate, and a fire engine has been lately erected upon one very extensive and valuable field of coal.—There are about 60 acres of wood, of which about 20 acres are now fit for cutting, and some grown timber over the estate to a considerable value.—The tenants are substantial; the farm houses in good repair; and the farms are all inclosed and subdivided with full grown hedges, which are ample fences.—The tacks have not many years to run, and at their expiry there must be a very considerable increase of rent, without any expence to the proprietor.—The valued rent is 1754 l. 4 s. 1 d. which, with some old retours, affords five freehold qualifications.—And the proprietor has an heritable right to the teinds of the whole estate, excepting one considerable farm, the teinds of which are valued.

For further particulars apply to the proprietor at Rosemount, near Kilmarnock, or to John Russell junior, clerk to the signet, Edinburgh.

BY ADJOURNMENT.

SALE of the ESTATE of REDCASTLE.

To be SOLD by public roup, within the Old Exchange Coffeehouse in Edinburgh, upon Wednesday, the 26th of July next, at six o'clock afternoon.

The Lands and Barony of REDCASTLE, lying in the parishes of Kilmarnock and Kilmuir Wester, and county of Roxburgh. These lands hold of the Crown, and are valued in the Cess-books of the county at 1491 l. At a moderate conversion of the value, they yield yearly rent about 1200 l. Sterling; and being very extensive, and still in their natural state, they are capable of great improvement.—Their situation is uncommonly agreeable. They lie along the navigable Frith of Forth, which bounds them on the north for the space of about five miles. They are distant from the burgh of Inverness only about two miles. The soil is of an exceeding good quality, dry and healthy; and owing to the south exposure, the crops are more early than in the most southerly parts of Scotland. The mansion-house is fit to accommodate a large family. The gardens are extensive, and yield fruit of all kinds in great plenty early, and of the best quality.—There is a considerable salmon fishing upon the estate, and white fish and shell fish of all kinds. The low country game upon it is plenty, and all sorts of Highland game within a few miles of it. There is some natural wood, and the plantations upon the estate are extensive, and in thriving condition.

Lieutenant John Mackenzie at Inverness will show the lands, and the rental, title-deeds, and articles of roup, are to be seen in the hands of John Tait, writer to the signet, Park Place, Edinburgh; and to whom any person may apply, who wishes to purchase by private bargain.

Sale of Lands in Dumfries-shire.

To be SOLD (separately) by public roup, within the Old Exchange Coffeehouse, Edinburgh, upon Thursday 27th July 1786, between the hours of five and six afternoon.

The Lands and Estate of KIRKMICHAEL & GLENAE, lying within the parish of Kirkmichael, and shire of Dumfries; the free rent of which amounts to about 825 l. Sterling. Besides which the tenants, excepting of two farms, are bound to pay the land-tax, and other public burdens.

Also, The Lands of DALRUSCAN, and others, lying in the parish of Tintalwald, and shire of Dumfries; the free rent of which amounts to about 530 l. Sterling. Besides which, the tenants are bound to pay the public burdens &c.

These estates extend from ten to within four miles and a half of Dumfries. The great road lately made from Edinburgh to Dumfries by Moffat, runs through the heart of it. The whole estates, except part of one farm, are arable. They lie compact, in the midst of a pleasant country, well situated for lime either from Dumfries, or from the lime-works at Clovenstone, at about six miles distance. The crops which they produce, both of wheat and oats, are remarkable in quality; and Dumfries and Annan in the neighbourhood, are inexhaustible markets for grain, both for home consumption and exportation.

There is a good mansion-house on the estate of Kirkmichael, pleasantly situated on the banks of the water of Ae. The policy and inclosures are extensive and beautiful; and there is, upon that estate, a large orchard, well stocked, and a great deal of wood both old and young, which was about three years ago valued by persons of skill, at between 9000 l. and 10,000 l. Sterling.

Both estates hold of the Crown, and afford several freehold qualifications. The title-deeds are perfectly clear.—The whole teinds are valued.—The proprietor has right to the teinds of Kirkmichael; and the teinds of Dalruscan, &c. are exhausted by the stipend payable to the minister.

The title-deeds, articles of roup, rentals, and current leases, are to be seen in the hands of John Tait junior, writer to the signet, Edinburgh; and copies of the articles of roup, &c. are also lodged with James Graham, writer in Dumfries, factor upon the estate; and to either of them, or to the proprietor at Kirkmichael house, or Mr John Hay accountant, Edinburgh, persons desirous of further information may apply. Mr Hay has power to sell by private bargain.
